

White Girls Protest Scottsboro Injustice

IN THE NAME OF JUSTICE—Four white girls, students of two of America's foremost finishing schools for women, joined the hundreds of other Americans and foreigners who love justice in an appeal to save the seven boys in Scottsboro, Ala., from death in the electric chair. The college girls carried the plea directly to congress following the recent decision of the Alabama supreme court upholding the death sentence of a lower court. With Senator Royal S. Copeland, New York, are the girls, who, reading from left to right, are: Misses Evelyn Rosenthal and Riva Stocker of Vassar college and Misses Florence Smith of Wellesley and Dorothy Lippincott of Vassar.
